Common breast cancer myths

Breast cancer only affects older women. No.

While it's true that the risk of breast cancer increases with age, breast cancer can occur at any age.

If breast cancer doesn't run in your family, you won't get it. No.

Every woman has some risk of breast cancer. The majority of women with breast cancer have no family history. For those women who do have a family history of breast cancer, screening may need to begin earlier. If you are concerned, discuss your family history with your physician or a genetic counselor.

Only your mother's family history of breast cancer can affect your risk. No.

A history of breast cancer in your mother's OR your father's family will influence your risk equally. That's because half of your genes come from your mother, half from your father.

A monthly breast self-exam is the best way to diagnose breast cancer. No.

While breast self exams are important, high quality mammography is still the most reliable way to find breast cancer as early as possible.

GREETINGS FROM SIENA HEIGHTS UNIVERSITY!

We appreciate and value our continued partnership with your institution and our shared mission of providing degree completion options for your community.

I am writing to you because we have some exciting news to share! If you haven't already heard, Siena Heights will celebrate its 100th Anniversary during the 2019-20 academic year. As a part of this celebration, we have a very special event planned that will include and highlight our partnership with your institution.

Our Centennial Torch Relay event will be from Aug. 19-26, 2019, and will feature a statewide bicycle tour that covers all of our Michigan campus locations – from coast-to-coast! Each day there will be a stop at one of our degree completion center locations – and we will have a special event for each of those stops, which includes your campus!

We hope your institution would consider being a sponsor of the overall relay event, as well as the title sponsor for the event that will be happening on your campus. The sponsorship is a $2,500 commitment and would include your institution's inclusion in event publicity as well as invitations to your faculty, staff and students to attend the on-campus event.

As an added incentive, we are also offering a free voucher for one of your faculty members to take our award-winning online training course (a $900 value). Siena Heights is currently ranked FIRST IN THE NATION in online faculty credentials/training by the U.S. News and World Report.

Included in this letter is a commitment form that explains the sponsorship in greater detail. We are hoping to have these sponsorship commitments in place by March 15.

If you have any questions, please contact my Dean for Graduate and Professional Studies Dr. Cheri Betz at cbetz@sienaheights.edu or 517-264-7234.

I hope you and your institution will help us celebrate a once-in-a-lifetime event!

Peace,

SIENA HEIGHTS
UNIVERSITY

Dear _____

We are part of something amazing!

SHU softball will soon have a newly renovated stadium to call home as part of the University and athletic department's commitment to support student-athletes in all of their educational activities. The facility will include a renovated field, enhanced spectator seating, and improved team amenities that are critical to the continued success of the softball program. The new facility will be a vital component to the softball student-athlete experience which will allow Siena to continue to recruit top-notch scholar athletes.

Siena has a celebrated history in softball with 5 WHAC Championships including this year's WHAC tournament win that qualified them for the NAIA Tournament for the first time since 1991. SHU is currently seeing their best stretch of softball since the height of our softball history during the 1988-1996 seasons, with this being the best single year since 1996. Academically, we continue to excel as an NAIA Scholar team for the past 10 years. The 2019 team includes six NAIA Scholar athletes, seven WHAC scholar athletes, and ten NFCA (National Fastpitch Coaches Association) scholar athletes. The 2019 season concluded with the 2nd highest win total in school history, with a record of 35-16.

The sustained success of Siena softball depends on supporters like you! In order to continue Siena's mission and provide over 600 student-athletes with a well-rounded opportunity for the student's athletic, academic and personal growth, we need your help! Please consider making either a monthly gift or a one time donation to help ensure a bright future where our student-athletes can excel. Your support is more important than ever!!

GO SAINTS!

Laura Klutsaris
Head Women's Softball Coach; Assistant Sports Information Director

"To me, Siena softball means family. It means having people there for you, on the field or off. It means developing individuals into stronger, and more confident people."

SIENA HEIGHTS
UNIVERSITY

Dear _____

Throughout the last 100 years, Siena Heights University has become a home away from home to students seeking a mission driven education that prepares them to be competent, purposeful, and ethical leaders in the community. There is added excitement this year as we welcome the largest incoming freshman class in Siena history.

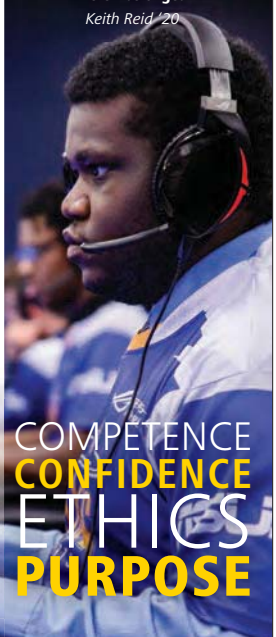

Keith Reid is beginning his final year at Siena as a Biology major. He is a dual sport athlete in bowling and eSports. Siena scholarships, from annual fund and endowment support, have provided Keith access to Siena mission based opportunities, including the following organizations: Tri Beta Honor Society, Men of Distinction, Multicultural Preprofessional Group, and the Chemistry Club.

The theme for Siena's 100th year is "Legacy." Leaving a legacy can be easier than you think. This is your chance to assist Siena's talented and well deserving students like Keith. Investing in the annual fund and the endowment ensures the endurance of the university and its mission. Collectively, all gifts have a significant impact on the entire campus. Please consider a meaningful gift to Siena students. Whether this is your first gift or an increase in your current support, your shared gift between the annual fund and the endowment will make an impact on Saints now and in the future.

We have made it even easier for you to give!
